FIVE MAGIC MOMENTS IN THIS YEAR'S QIPCO BRITISH CHAMPIONS SERIES

1 HISTORY MADE IN THE ST LEGER

Laura Mongan was shaking in almost disbelief after Harbour Law had won the world's oldest Classic in dramatic fashion - in the process making her the first female trainer to land the race. It was the Epsom-based trainer's first runner in a Group One race. Before it, she had secured £207,997 in win prize money on the Flat since 2005. First prize here was £396,970. "I think I screamed a lot," she said.

2 FILLY BECOMES A BIG NOISE

The syndicate-owned Quiet Reflection was a relatively cheap buy, just 44,000 guineas, and was steered to glory by former jump jockey Dougie Costello, having his first winner on the Flat at Ascot - let alone at the Royal Meeting. It was also a first Royal Ascot success for trainer Karl Burke.

3 DERBY JOY FOR IRISH VETERAN

The 67-year-old Dermot Weld has won most of the big races around the world but success in the Derby had eluded him. His chances of breaking his duck seemed remote when Harzand ripped off a shoe en route to the races but the colt overcame that late injury scare to win under Pat Smullen, who was also landing the iconic contest for the first time.

4 OH BABY! INCREDIBLE 24-HOUR TREBLE

Adam Kirby became a Dad for the first time on the morning of Royal Ascot and then, in the afternoon, won the King's Stand Stakes aboard Profitable for trainer Clive Cox. The following day Kirby and Cox combined to strike again with My Dream Boat - the outsider of the field in the Prince of Wales's Stakes.

5 A LANDMARK FIRST CLASSIC TRIUMPH

There was plenty of hugging and back-slapping straight after the QIPCO 2000 Guineas when Hugo Palmer, the aspiring young Newmarket trainer, landed his first Classic success via Galileo Gold. Frankie Dettori's obligatory flying dismount kept up the excitement of the crowd.

QIPCO BRITISH CHAMPIONS SERIES 2016 IN QUOTES

“Every time we win a nice race I wake up the next morning and the first thing I do is check the Racing Post to make sure it happened. I’ll be doing that tomorrow and dreading this has been a dream.”

Hugo Palmer after Galileo Gold’s QIPCO 2000 Guineas triumph

“I got a bit smashed up on the rail for a bit but her class got us out of trouble. I always felt that we’d saved plenty as things had gone smoothly up to that point. I had no doubt she was the best filly and the best fillies get you out of trouble.”

Ryan Moore after Minding had overcome a bumpy passage to win the Investec Oaks

“I suppose not winning the Derby has been nagging away at me for a bit. It was the one race I needed to win. Quite often, though, you don’t have a good enough horse to run in the race, let alone win it.

You have to make every opportunity count when you do.”

Dermot Weld savours Harzand’s Investec Derby success

“His ability – you can’t install that. All his other attributes come a close second. He’s got the most level temperament; that’s a real quality. I should have thought he’s got the most level heartbeat of any horse at the start; he takes any situation in his stride. He can operate off a fast pace or a slow pace and in different ground conditions. He really is the ultimate.”

Roger Varian when asked what sets Postponed apart from the others

“I can’t believe we got beaten.”

Ryan Moore stunned after Found had finished runner-up to My Dream Boat in the Prince of Wales’s Stakes

“I had to ride about four different races – it was a nightmare the whole way. He picked up well and to be still pouring it on at the end of two and a half miles is a very good performance.”

Moore in happier mood after Order Of St George had scooped the Gold Cup

“I had a Ducati 1098 for two years before my daughter came along and my wife made me get rid of it. The way Quiet Reflection took off when I pushed the button at Haydock is probably the closest acceleration I’ve ever felt to it since.”

Dougie Costello on Quiet Reflection - before her wins in the Commonwealth Cup and 32 Red Sprint Cup

“I took him to Newbury recently to do a piece of work with him and he decided that he wanted to do two bits of work. He got rid of his work-rider and did a piece of work himself and then we did what we’d come there to do. La Rioja got rid of her rider, too, and they had a nice spin round loose. It wasn’t funny at the time. I could do without mornings like that.”

Henry Candy reveals how Twilight Son prepared for his victory in the Diamond Jubilee Stakes

David Metcalfe, owner of Mecca’s Angel, sees one downside to his star mare’s second Coolmore Nunthorpe victory

“We are not going there for a day out, or to make up the numbers. We are going there with a horse who is entitled to be there and he could not be in better shape. He’s spot-on. It’s the perfect race for him; he’s an out-out stayer who has matured as the year has progressed. He’s only the price he is (generally 25-1) because he’s trained by us.”

Laura Mongan before Harbour Law’s run in the Ladbrokes St Leger.

“I think I screamed a lot. I’m in shock. To go down in history as the first woman to win it is amazing, at least I’ve done something right.”

Laura Mongan after Harbour Law won the Ladbrokes St Leger

LAST YEAR'S WINNER: FLYING OFFICER

Jockey: Frankie Dettori Trainer: John Gosden Owner: George Strawbridge Breeder: George Strawbridge Jr

A first QIPCO British Champions Day success for champion trainer John Gosden - and, incredibly, for Frankie Dettori too - as 6/1 chance Flying Officer burst into a commanding advantage two furlongs out. He had enough left in the tank to hold off the late challenge of luckless Yorkshire raider Clever Cookie, who endured a nightmare passage, by a length. Dettori described the successful horse afterwards as "a real big unit".

POSSIBLE CONTENDERS THIS YEAR INCLUDE

ORDER OF ST GEORGE

A late bloomer at three, he improved throughout last year to win the Irish St Leger in emphatic fashion at The Curragh and has continued from where he left off this season with a cosy comeback win at Leopardstown before taking the Gold Cup In Honour Of The Queen's 90th Birthday at Royal Ascot. Ryan Moore rode him with supreme confidence there and he simply cruised through the field when asked to go and win and was a strong third in the Arc. Aidan O'Brien's runner will take some beating if lining up in the QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup, given that he has no shortage of speed to go with his obvious stamina reserves.

PALLASATOR

Third in this race in 2014 and fourth last year, Pallasator will attempt to make it third time lucky in 2016. He started this season in fine form when taking the Group 3 Henry II Stakes at Sandown and although he couldn't get competitive in the Gold Cup at Royal Ascot he is capable of top-class form on his day, as he showed when running away with the Doncaster Cup last September. Since then he was runner-up in the Qatar Goodwood Cup in what his trainer declared was a career-best effort and second in the Weatherbys Hamilton Insurance Cup.

QUEST FOR MORE

One of the toughest horses in training, Roger Charlton's six-year-old has improved throughout his career and taken his form to a new level again this season with all-the-way victory in the Weatherbys Hamilton Lonsdale Cup at York. Denied in the final stride of the 250th Doncaster Cup when upped in trip to two and a quarter miles, this admirable and versatile performer looks sure to go well again, especially if he gets his favoured good ground and is in great form having clinched the Prix du Cadran in Chantilly.

HISTORY OF THE RACE

Established in 1873 as the Jockey Club Cup, this race was run at Newmarket until 2011, when it was moved to Ascot and renamed the QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup. With two demanding miles (3,200 metres) of Ascot's famous turf to negotiate, it provides a thorough test of stamina for Flat racing's top stayers as they contest the final major long-distance race of the British season.

The seven races in the QIPCO British Champions Long Distance category vary in distance from the extended mile and six furlongs (2,920 metres) of Doncaster's Ladbrokes St Leger to the two and a half miles (4,000 metres) of the Gold Cup at Royal Ascot. The intermediate two-mile trip of the QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup therefore provides the perfect distance for the category finale. At £350,000, second only in value amongst Europe's staying races to the Gold Cup itself, the race had been dominated by Irish challengers in its first four years at Ascot before Frankie Dettori and John Gosden each claimed a first victory at QIPCO British Champions Day last year in the race with Flying Officer.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER: MUHAARAR

Jockey: Paul Hanagan Trainer: Charlie Hills Owner: Hamdan Al Maktoum Breeder: Shadwell

A fourth consecutive Group 1 success, but this was the victory that conclusively crowned Muhaarar as the very best sprinter seen anywhere in Europe last year. Concerns over the suitability of the ground and the tough campaign he'd faced to this point were blown away in a matter of strides soon after the furlong-pole. He coasted home under Paul Hanagan to beat Twilight Son by two lengths and cap a tremendous season which saw him claim most of 2015's biggest sprinting prizes.

TWILIGHT SON

Henry Candy's speedball was beaten two lengths by Muhaarar in last year's QIPCO British Champions Sprint Stakes but his victory at Royal Ascot this year in the Group 1 Diamond Jubilee Stakes suggests he could be ready to go one better in this year's contest. Although beaten in a very strong renewal of the July Cup at Newmarket by stablemate Limato, he seems to come alive at Ascot.

MECCA'S ANGEL

Having brought the house down at York in 2015 when swooping late to deny American ace Acapulco in the Coolmore Nunthorpe Stakes, this remarkable mare went and did it again when taking the same race in August 12 months on. With owner David Metcalfe planning to sell her for breeding, this race is set to be her swansong and there could be no greater testament to the talents of trainer Michael Dods if she could bow out in glory in Ascot's spotlight.

QUIET REFLECTION

One of the most memorable moments of the season so far came at Royal Ascot when jockey Dougie Costello came back into the winner's enclosure in tears after Quiet Reflection had demolished her rivals in the Group 1 Commonwealth Cup. Karl Burke's three-year-old has already been one of the sprinting stars of the season and backed up her Royal Ascot win with a very solid third-placed effort behind Limato in the July Cup at Newmarket, before landing the 32Red Sprint Cup at Haydock. Her ability to handle soft ground, shown when winning on heavy ground at Chantilly on her seasonal reappearance, means that connections will not fear any rain.

HISTORY OF THE RACE

In 2015, the QIPCO British Champions Sprint Stakes was upgraded from Group 2 to Group 1 status and, in response to its enhanced prestige, the race's value was boosted from £350,000 to £600,000 establishing it as Europe's joint-most valuable sprint.

This six-furlong (1,200 metres) contest provides the grand finale to the seven-race QIPCO British Champions Sprint division. There are three Series races run over five furlongs (1,000 metres) and four, including today's contest, over six furlongs. Many sprinters tend to specialise over one of these distances, but the true greats have the versatility to excel over both trips.

The QIPCO British Champions Sprint Stakes has evolved from the Diadem Stakes, which was first run at Ascot in 1946. The first running under its current name was won by Deacon Blues, trained in Newmarket by James Fanshawe, in 2011. The three subsequent scorers travelled across the Irish Sea to land the prize, before European champion Muhaarar scored for Britain last year.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER: SIMPLE VERSE

Jockey: Andrea Atzeni Trainer: Ralph Beckett Owner: Qatar Racing / Sheikh Suhaim Al Thani / M Al Kubaisi
Breeder: Barronstown Stud

Just weeks after winning the Ladbrokes St Leger, losing the race in the stewards' room and then being re-awarded it upon appeal, Simple Verse claimed a second Group 1 victory in far more straightforward circumstances. Frankie Dettori poached a lead on Journey early in the straight, but the winner's stamina reserves kicked in and she steadily cut down her rival to score at 5/1 by three-quarters of a length in the colours of Qatar Racing who so generously support the meeting under the QIPCO banner.

EVEN SONG

Aidan O'Brien has an embarrassment of riches in this division, with Minding (winner of the QIPCO 1000 Guineas, the Investec Oaks and Qatar Nassau Stakes) and Alice Springs (winner of the Group 1 Falmouth Stakes at Newmarket) both leading the way in the QIPCO British Champions Series. However, Even Song showed just what a progressive filly she was when running away with the Group 2 Ribblesdale Stakes at Royal Ascot on only her fourth start.

ENDLESS TIME

This Godolphin-owned daughter of Sea The Stars began last season in relatively lowly handicap company, but she has improved out of all recognition and successfully moved up to Group 2 level when grinding out victory in the Lancashire Oaks on her seasonal reappearance. Connections have already nominated this contest as a likely end-of-season target and the run of '1's next to her name says she must be taken seriously.

ZHUKOVA

Dermot Weld has no peers when it comes to preparing a runner for QIPCO British Champions Day and this filly fully deserves her place in the line-up, having improved throughout the season. The conqueror of Investec Derby runner-up US Army Ranger on her latest appearance, she had turned an earlier fillies' race into a rout, beating Park Hill Stakes runner-up Pretty Perfect by seven and a half lengths. A fascinating contender and trained by a master.

HISTORY OF THE RACE

The genealogy of the QIPCO British Champions Fillies' And Mares' Stakes dates back to 1946, when Ascot staged the Princess Royal Stakes for the first time. In 2008 it was renamed the Pride Stakes and moved to Newmarket, but it returned to Ascot under its current name in 2011.

The new race was given a boost in its very first year as it was won by none other than the Investec Oaks and Preis der Diana (German Oaks) winner, Dancing Rain, a dual Classic heroine having her final European start. Simple Verse was the second Classic winner to claim the spoils in its short recent history when successful last year. The race was awarded Group 1 status in 2013 and now boasts prize money of £600,000, the latest increase of £50,000 making it Britain's joint-most valuable fillies-only race.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER: SOLOW

Jockey: Maxime Guyon Trainer: Freddy Head Owner: Wertheimer & Frere Breeder: Wertheimer Et Frere

A third French-trained winner in the short history of QIPCO British Champions Day as Freddy Head's superstar miler routed his rivals in ideal conditions.

Jockey Maxime Guyon knew he had the race in safe keeping from some way out, although the fast-finishing Belardo was making late gains in second close home. Head hailed his winner as "a brilliant horse, who is easy to train and does whatever you ask him to".

GALILEO GOLD

One of last season's top juveniles, Galileo Gold has taken his form to another level this season, with victories in the QIPCO 2000 Guineas at Newmarket and the Group 1 St James's Palace Stakes at Royal Ascot. Hugo Palmer's three-year-old went down a neck at Goodwood to The Gurkha before a disappointing display at Deauville but victory in the Queen Elizabeth II Stakes (sponsored by QIPCO) on QIPCO British Champions Day could well see him crowned champion miler at the end of the season.

RIBCHESTER

Third behind Galileo Gold in the QIPCO 2000 Guineas, he has progressed throughout the campaign, taking the Group 1 Prix Jacques Le Marois at Deauville in August. Trainer Richard Fahey says he can't wait to see his colt's bid to reverse form with Galileo Gold and the signs suggest there may not be much between the pair again – the gap was only a short-head when they finished third and second in the Qatar Sussex Stakes at Goodwood.

MINDING

Arguably the star of the entire season so far in Britain and Ireland, Minding has mopped up a series of Group 1 prizes including a brace of English Classics and her presence among the entries for QIPCO British Champions Day confirms the elite status of this contest, now that it has achieved top level billing. Versatile, game and possibly still even improving, the dual Classic winner sets the bar high for any would-be rival and was praised by Rian Moore for her professionalism in the Qatar Nassau Stakes.

HISTORY OF THE RACE

Long recognised as Europe's mile championship, 1,600 metre races come no bigger than this anywhere on the international stage. Carrying a cool £1.1 million in prizemoney, the race has entered a different stratosphere in financial terms, boosted from £250,000 in 2010 when it was run at Ascot's late September meeting. It is now by far the richest mile race in Europe and one of the most valuable anywhere in the world. Named in honour of The Queen in 1955, the race has a roll of honour packed full of stars, including Brigadier Gerard (1971 & 1972), Known Fact (1980), Dubai Millennium (1999) and the awesome Frankel, who took the contest in 2011 in effortless fashion. After a dozen straight home wins leading up to 2005, the winner's trophy has been exported four times in the last nine years, most recently to France following Charm Spirit's 2014 success and Solow's last year.

The race also holds special memories for Frankie Dettori. It provided him with his first-ever Group 1 victory thanks to Markofdistinction in 1990 and six years later Mark Of Esteem was the third leg of his 'Magnificent Seven' when he won all seven races on that famous (or infamous if you were a bookmaker) Ascot card.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER: FASCINATING ROCK

Jockey: Pat Smullen Trainer: Dermot Weld Owner: Newtown Anner Stud Breeder: Newtown Anner Stud

Dermot Weld's faith in his late-maturing four-year-old was fully justified as Fascinating Rock came with a powerful late challenge to cut down Irish Derby winner Jack Hobbs and hold off the final threat of ace filly Found. Weld, who has won more QIPCO British Champions Day contests than any other trainer, revealed afterwards that he had been eyeing this race all year long.

ALMANZOR

French trainer Jean-Claude Rouget has enjoyed a remarkable season, with this colt arguably the biggest star. Overlooked unfairly by many in the build-up to last month's QIPCO Irish Champion Stakes, he won going away from a high-class field packed with Group 1 winners, showing a devastating burst of acceleration under Christophe Soumillon. With victory in the French Derby also to his name, Almanzor's potent turn of foot and effectiveness on varying going conditions make him an opponent to be much respected.

HAWKBILL

The Godolphin-owned three-year-old has been a revelation this season and has won six of his last eight races. He burst onto the Group-race scene with a scintillating victory in the Group 3 Tercentenary Stakes at Royal Ascot and followed that up with a spirited success in the Coral-Eclipse at Sandown. Could he be the horse who gives Fascinating Rock the most to think about should they clash at Ascot in October?

FOUND

Astonishing mare who silenced those questioning her string of second-placed Group 1 runs with a brilliant victory in the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe on her most recent start. Her admirable constitution means connections are prepared to throw her back into the mix here, less than a fortnight after her French heroics. Having only finished out of the first three once before in her career, she will surely once again attract support.

HISTORY OF THE RACE

With £1.3 million in prize money, the QIPCO Champion Stakes over 1 mile 2 furlongs (2,000 metres) is the most valuable ten-furlong race in Europe. Following on from iconic races like the Investec Derby and King George VI & Queen Elizabeth Stakes sponsored by QIPCO, this is the final, pulsating showdown in the British Champions Series Middle Distance division.

The race brought a great heritage with it from Newmarket, where it had been run from its inception in 1877 until 2010. But the dramatic injection in prize money that accompanied its move to become the glittering highlight of the new QIPCO British Champions Day has changed its status completely.

Each of the five renewals in the race's new surroundings have produced top-quality fields and thrilling finishes. The first set the bar high, with French raider Cirrus Des Aigles getting the better of Aussie superstar So You Think with two champion mares, Snow Fairy and Middy, further behind. For quality and drama few races could ever match the 2012 running, when Frankel completed his career unbeaten despite unsuitable ground and a very slow start from the stalls.

2013 saw Farhh prevail in a three-way battle, while in 2014 we were treated to a spine-tingling duel between Al Kazeem and Noble Mission, who ultimately came out on top for Lady Cecil. Last year, QIPCO British Champions Day dream team Dermot Weld and Pat Smullen (who have each enjoyed four winners on the day over the past five years) pounced late to land the spoils with Fascinating Rock.

HISTORY OF THE RACE

Named after the castle in Scotland that has belonged to the British Royal Family since it was purchased by Prince Albert, consort to Queen Victoria, in 1852, the Balmoral Handicap was inaugurated in 2014.

A race known as the Balmoral Handicap had previously been staged over five furlongs at the Royal Meeting, discontinued in 2004 in favour of the new Windsor Forest Stakes for fillies and mares. The Ascot Executive always intended to bring the name back when the appropriate opportunity arose, and Her Majesty The Queen graciously consented to it being re-introduced on QIPCO British Champions Day.

The new Balmoral Handicap Sponsored by QIPCO, with its £250,000 race value, is the richest one-mile (1,600 metre) handicap in Europe.

In its inaugural running, the race could not have had a more popular winner than Marcus Tregoning's Bronze Angel, who had built up a legion of fans via his two triumphs, in 2012 and 2014, in another of Britain's most prestigious handicaps, the Betfred Cambridgeshire. His victory also showcased an exciting new riding talent in the shape of 20-year-old Louis Steward. Last year, although open to all jockeys, it was another apprentice who stole the show when 17-year-old Eddy Greatrex scored aboard Musaddas for Godolphin.

THE STOBART FLAT JOCKEYS' CHAMPIONSHIP

Before the first horse had even taken to the track last year, the crowds were deep around the winner's enclosure at Ascot to witness the crowning of the 2015 Stobart Champion Flat Jockey, Silvestre De Sousa. In scenes that will be remembered for years to come, De Sousa received his award to a rapturous reception and was joined by wife Vicky, his son Ryan, and his mother Estelina, who had flown in from Brazil for the occasion – the first time she had even seen her son for four years.

The success of De Sousa, who rode 132 winners during the period covered by the championship, proved one of the highlights of the day – not to mention the whole season – and the 35-year-old had been in contention to retain his title, having led the standings for much of the season before being challenged by Jim Crowley.

Generously funded by the Stobart Group, Great British Racing and British Champions Series, a total of £105,000 in prize money is once again on offer in 2016.

THE £105,000 IN PRIZE MONEY FOR THE STOBART FLAT JOCKEYS' CHAMPIONSHIP WILL BE DISTRIBUTED AS FOLLOWS:

JIM CROWLEY'S RACE TO BE CROWNED CHAMPION

The Stobart Flat Jockeys' Championship never fails to captivate and this year's race for the title has produced a titanic battle over the past three months between two of the most talented riders in the country.

Reigning champion Silvestre De Sousa was an unconsidered 66/1 shot when crowned Champion Jockey for the first time last year, but considering his dominance it was no surprise to see the bookmakers take no chances this time around, with the layers installing him the 6/4 favourite to retain his title.

However, it is another new name in the shape of Jim Crowley who has stolen the headlines this year, emerging to take this season by storm and not only earn the respect of his peers, but also that of punters up and down the land. Like De Sousa in 2015, Crowley was chalked up as a rank outsider by the bookies at the start of the 2016 season in April and, for the first couple of months at least, it looked as if the layers had got the market spot on as De Sousa roared into the lead, having ridden 26 winners in the championship by the end of May, a figure extended to 51 by the end of June.

However, although the Brazilian had amassed a lead of 12 over his nearest rival Ryan Moore by this time, his title challenge was first thrown into some doubt when he received a 12-day suspension under the BHA's totting-up procedure for whip offences. By the time July had drawn to a close, De Sousa's lead had been cut to a single winner as an inspired Ryan Moore hit 57 victories, with James Doyle just two behind.

At the end of July, Crowley had notched up 44 winners from 296 rides, at a very respectable 15% strike rate but he was still 14 winners behind De Sousa and there was nothing to suggest that he was about to mount an imminent challenge. However, in August not only did the 38-year-old ride 38 winners, but he also flew up the charts to second in the Stobart Flat Jockeys' Championship, just two winners behind De Sousa, who was now on 84. September saw De Sousa and Crowley fight tooth and nail for the top spot and the lead swapped hands many times as both jockeys continued to fire the winners in. However, it was Crowley who gained the upper hand, putting in a record-breaking performance to clinch 46 winners by the end of the month, a feat that exceeded even the efforts of Fred Archer, Sir Gordon Richards and Sir Anthony McCoy.

Crowley's bid for the title has required spending time away from home and meant that he has seen less of his three children over the summer than he would have wanted, but his whole family understand the situation, as his wife, Lucinda, explains. "He has been staying away from home more than has been the case in the past, but the children understand that's what he needs to do if he wants to have a chance of being champion," she says.

"I'm tremendously proud of him, all of the family are, and I think his achievements this year - especially as a jockey who started out making his name over Jumps and rode so many winners there - are amazing. Both he and Silvestre have worked really hard this summer. The travel and all the riding really takes it out of you.

"The jockeys' championship would mean a lot to him, I know it would, and rightly so, because everyone wants to be champion and at the top of their sport. It's something that, once you've done it, you've got for the rest of your life." Going into the final week of the Championship, Crowley looks to have built up an unassailable lead and, should he go on to win as expected, he will not only walk away with the prize of £25,000 but will also have entered the history books as the Stobart Champion Flat Jockey for 2016 - a sporting accolade that money cannot buy.

STOBART CHAMPION APPRENTICE JOSEPHINE GORDON

Happily, there is more than one route to the top in racing and this year's Stobart Champion Apprentice Jockey award has produced a thrilling battle between two highly-accomplished riding talents whose exciting careers have taken contrasting paths to this point.

On QIPCO British Champions Day 12 months ago, Tom Marquand was up at Catterick booting home the last of 54 winners that would ensure he was crowned Stobart Champion Apprentice in 2015. It had been a meteoric rise to the top for Marquand, who had only ridden his first winner 11 months earlier.

Indeed, so quickly had Marquand established himself that his apprentice status remained intact for another year and after some time spent riding – with further success – in Australia in the winter, he returned to try and win the apprentices' title for a remarkable second time.

With the continued support of boss Richard Hannon, Marquand has enjoyed another excellent season, taking a lead in the title race in midsummer and at that stage looking firmly on track to achieve his ambition.

Other apprentices to have enjoyed profitable campaigns include George Wood and Adam McNamara, the latter benefiting from the support of Richard Fahey, whose powerful Yorkshire stable has supplied most of the 19-year-old's winners.

But while Marquand, Wood and McNamara undoubtedly have exciting futures in the sport – and the latter pair will be able to challenge again for the title in 2017 – it is the hard work, determination and talent of Josephine Gordon that is to be rewarded with the £5,000 first prize and the Tom O'Ryan award, named in honour of the respected racing writer and broadcaster, who died in August.

O'Ryan loved nothing more than graft reaping its reward and would surely have approved of the success of Gordon, the third female apprentice to be crowned champion after Hayley Turner (2005) and Amy Ryan (2012), who has not always enjoyed the smoothest of journeys on her way to this point.

The 23-year-old had to wait 18 months between her first and second winners, a period that saw her becoming understandably frustrated and left her considering her future in the sport. But a 25/1 success aboard Shamrock Sheila at Bath last June proved a turning point in her career and she also built up a winning rapport with multiple winner The Burnham Mare for boss Stan Moore, to whom she remains grateful for his support even when times were tough.

Suddenly, the victories began to flow for Gordon. In a pivotal period during the winter all-weather season, she rode six winners in 10 days in mid-January.

Along with Moore's support, Gordon credits agent Phil Shea – who unsurprisingly began to find his phone was ringing more often – along with her mother, Cheryl, who runs a livery yard, and her coach John Reid, as having played important roles in her development.

Derby-winning jockey Reid takes his role very seriously and the pair together perform careful analysis of every race in which she rides, both before and afterwards. Reid has also worked on improving her style in the saddle. The hours spent on the Equicizer have paid off.

With Moore's blessing, Gordon has become an experienced cross-country traveller and must now know the A14 as well as anyone, making the trek from the trainer's Lambourn base to regularly ride out for a number of stables in Newmarket. As well as riding upsides Ryan Moore on the racecourse, she can now find herself neck and neck with him on the gallops when Sir Michael Stoute requires their services at the same time.

The jockey regards riding a winner for Stoute as one of the highlights of the year, but it is for another Newmarket trainer Hugo Palmer that she landed the biggest success of her career, taking the Mallard Handicap at the St Leger Festival aboard Wall Of Fire.

With every victory, targets have come and gone. At first she was chasing 15 winners. Then 30. Now she has finally allowed herself the chance to accept that she will achieve an ambition that only 18 months ago seemed unimaginable. "I've just tried to keep my head down and not think too much about it," says Gordon. "Of course, I've had the table at the back of my mind, but you can't get too far ahead of yourself. It's not long ago that Tom had a good lead and I didn't think I could do it, but it's gone brilliantly in the last few weeks.

"I have felt a little bit of pressure and although I'm sure Tom has too, he's done it all before! Riding at the Shergar Cup was a fantastic experience, but there have been lots of highlights this year and I'm just grateful for all of the support I have had."

"Everyone tells me that it's the next phase that is the hardest when you start to lose your claim so I have been working hard trying to get my face seen as much as possible and building up my contacts for when that time eventually comes."

Gordon has her feet planted too firmly on the ground not to realise that the Stobart Champion Apprentice title brings with it no guarantee of future success. But she has earned the right to enjoy this honour and arrives at Ascot riding better than ever before. With powerful connections already established across the country, this could be just the start of something big.

NEW STOBART CHAMPION APPRENTICE TROPHY NAMED IN HONOUR OF TOM O'RYAN

This year's Stobart Champion Apprentice will be presented with a newly acquired, perpetual trophy named in honour of former jockey and racing journalist Tom O'Ryan, who recently lost his battle with cancer. The trophy, which was funded by sponsor Stobart Group, will be presented to the apprentice who rides the most winners during the Championship period on Saturday 15th October.

O'Ryan was a talented rider during his career and a former Racing Journalist of the Year, but it was his guidance and support that he gave to up-and-coming jockeys that endeared him to generations of riders starting out in their careers. It was this unwavering support of young jockeys that has led to the prize being named the Tom O'Ryan Champion Apprentice trophy, in his honour.

Andrew Tinkler, Chief Executive of Stobart Group, sponsor of the Champion Apprentice title, said: "Tom O'Ryan was always on hand to help out young riders when they needed advice and we were delighted to help facilitate his name being associated with the new Champion Apprentice trophy."

Paul Hanagan, former Champion Apprentice and Champion Jockey, said: "I knew Tom well when I based up north, he was always a great help to us in the weighing room and helped me out as young jockey. He was a racing man through and through and understood the game well and I am delighted to see his name associated with the new Apprentice trophy."

Dale Gibson, the Executive Director at the Professional Jockeys Association, said: "Tom O'Ryan was kind, knowledgeable and very generous with his time, especially with the Apprentices in the weighing room. I couldn't think of a more fitting tribute to have his name sit alongside the greatest award a young rider can obtain. I knew him for over 25 years and he will be sorely missed."

Tom Marquand, last year's Stobart Champion Apprentice, said: "It's fitting a tribute to have the new trophy named in Tom O'Ryan's honour. He was widely known as somebody that helped a lot of apprentices over the years and all he ever did was give to racing – especially apprentices. I don't think anybody would have a bad thing to say about him, he was a fantastic person. I would be immensely proud to win the trophy named in his honour."

PAT SMULLEN: CHAMPIONS DAY LEADING JOCKEY

From seasoned racegoer to novice, everyone who follows racing understands the notion that certain trainers and jockeys tend to come to the fore time and again at the big meetings.

QIPCO British Champions Day is no different. Since its inception in 2011, Britain's richest race day has belonged to jockey Pat Smullen, thanks in no small part to his longstanding partnership with trainer Dermot Weld.

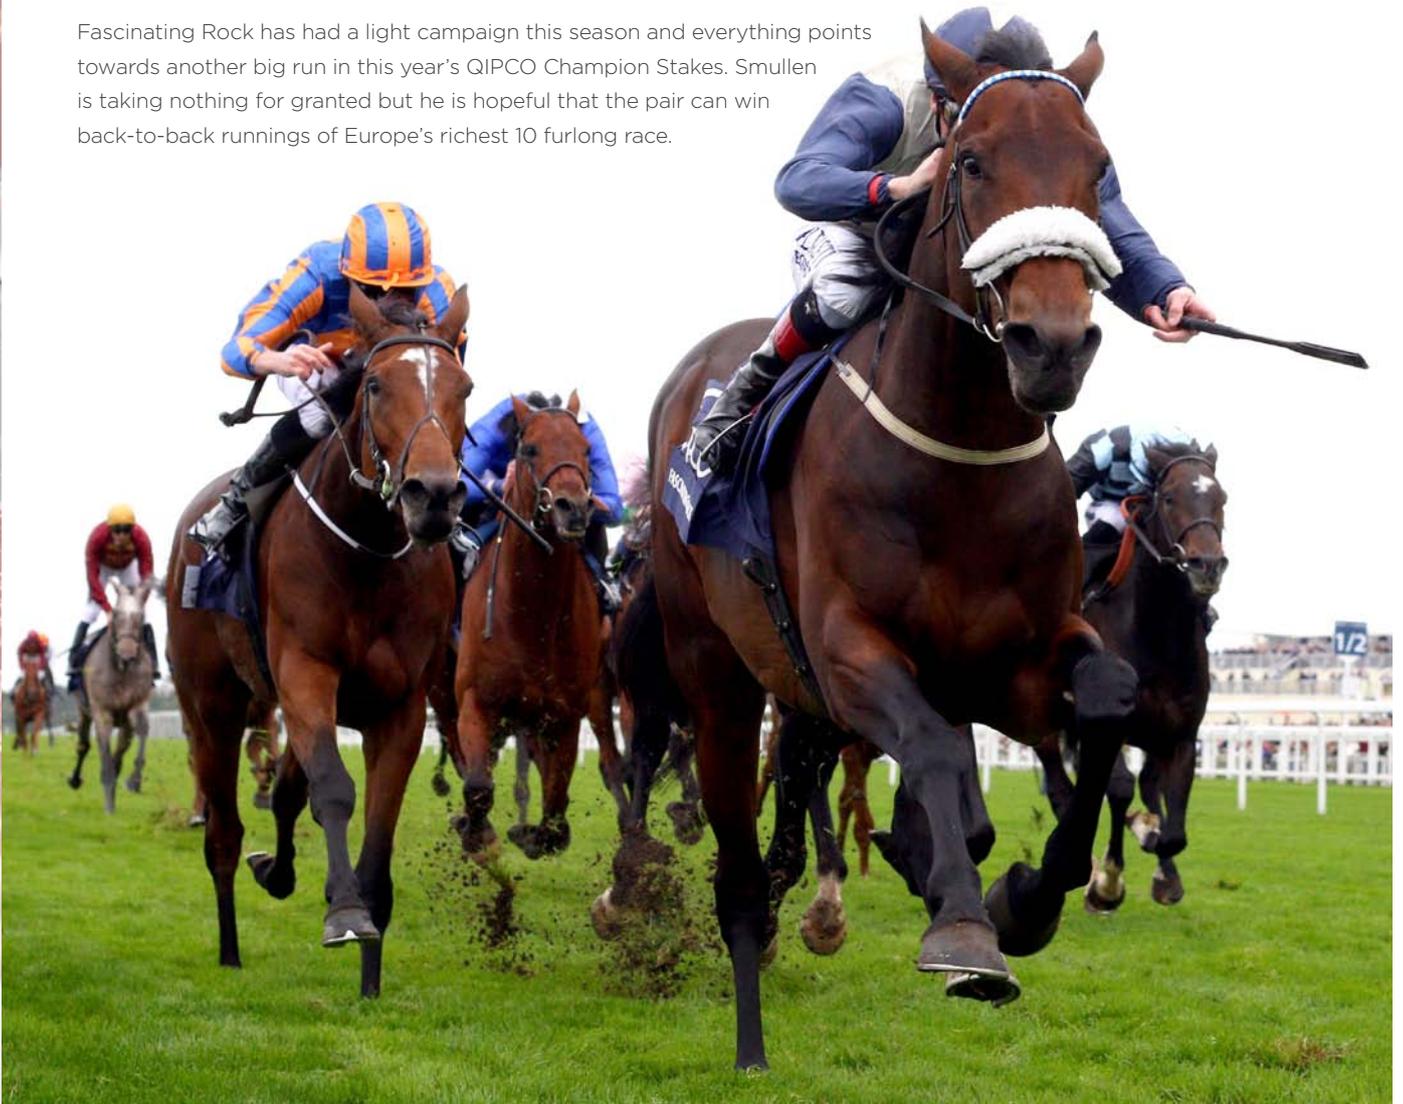

Between them, the pair have tasted success in no fewer than four races on QIPCO British Champions Day and, as Smullen explains, it has quickly become a day circled in his diary each year.

"It's a brilliant card, highlighted by the Champion Stakes of course," says Smullen. "It's a complete Championship day's racing and there's a big build-up to it, pitting together the best horses who will compete for the best races at that time of year."

Smullen, who achieved another lifetime ambition this year after he steered Harzand to victory in the Investec Derby, has ridden more winners than any other jockey on QIPCO British Champions Day and understandably, finds it very difficult to choose a favourite among the quartet.

"I'm very fortunate to have ridden four winners at the meeting in Rite Of Passage, Sapphire, Forgotten Rules and Fascinating Rock and all four winners were brilliant," he explains. "It would be very difficult to single out one win over the others, they were all great, but obviously it was hugely important to win the QIPCO Champion Stakes last year (on Fascinating Rock)."

Fascinating Rock has had a light campaign this season and everything points towards another big run in this year's QIPCO Champion Stakes. Smullen is taking nothing for granted but he is hopeful that the pair can win back-to-back runnings of Europe's richest 10 furlong race.

“Fascinating Rock is a high-class colt and has a huge chance of going back to defend his crown at Ascot,” opines the jockey. “I’m sure the QIPCO Champion Stakes is a race that’s very much on his agenda. He’s being trained for an autumn campaign and Ascot is very much on his radar. Right now he’s very much the serious contender again, especially if there is any ease in the ground, and he’s a horse I’m very much looking forward to riding.

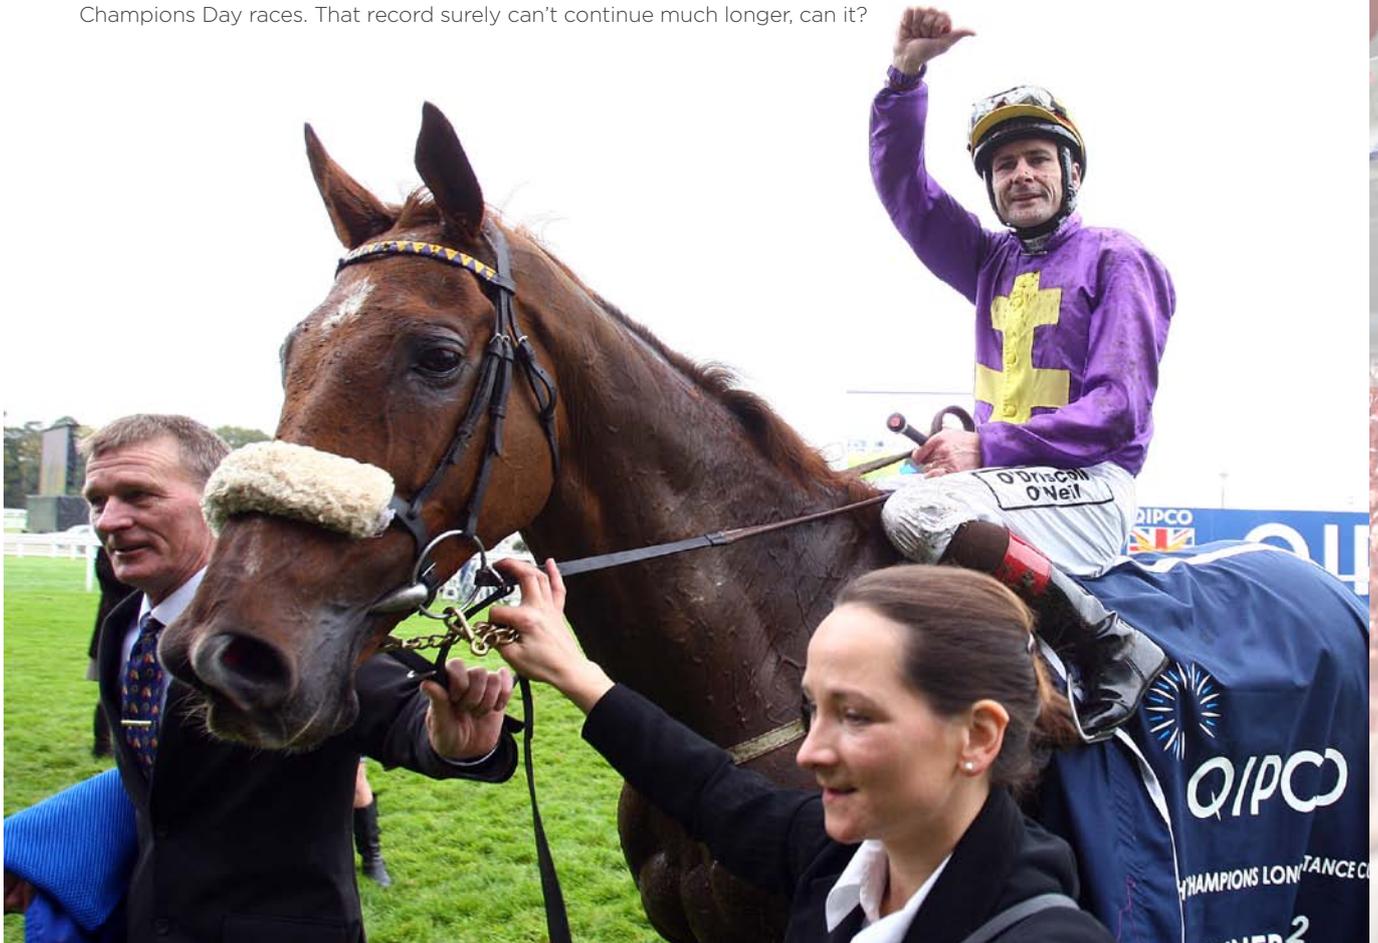

“Between now and then, there’ll be plenty of other horses that will come out of the woodwork and be serious opposition to him, but as things stand right now, to me, he’s the horse I’m looking forward to for Champions Day.”

While Fascinating Rock’s victory in the QIPCO Champion Stakes last year ranks as Smullen’s favourite moment of QIPCO British Champions Day, he also has a soft spot for Rite Of Passage’s victory in the QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup in 2012 as it highlighted the training talents of Dermot Weld.

“In terms of a training achievement though, Rite Of Passage winning the stayers race after being off for so long was a huge training performance by the boss,” admitted Smullen. “The horse showed great heart and determination, he was just a great horse and for him to come back from a serious injury to win such a competitive race on Champions Day. I thought it was very special. It was a brilliant performance from both trainer and horse but that being said, all four winners were absolutely brilliant and memorable in their own right. I’ve been very lucky.”

Although both Smullen and Weld have made winning look easy on QIPCO British Champions Day, other trainers and jockeys have not been so lucky. Champion trainer John Gosden only got off the mark last year when Flying Officer landed the QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup while Aidan O’Brien has only had two winners in the last five years (Excelebration in the 2012 Queen Elizabeth II Stakes (sponsored by QIPCO) and Fame And Glory in the 2011 QIPCO British Champions Long Distance Cup).

Spare a thought for Ryan Moore though. While the former champion may boot the winners home with alarming regularity throughout the QIPCO British Champions Series, he has yet to taste victory in any of the QIPCO British Champions Day races. That record surely can’t continue much longer, can it?

CHAMPION OWNER TITLE GOING TO THE WIRE

The recent history of British horse racing is peppered with battles between two of racing's modern-day power-houses and this year's Owners' Championship title has proved to be another head-to-head fight between the Godolphin and Coolmore bloodstock empires.

It was last year in 2015 that the championship was moved to mirror the jockeys' title, running from QIPCO 2000 Guineas Day at Newmarket in May until QIPCO British Champions Day at Ascot in October.

That first championship title under the new terms was won in comprehensive fashion by Sheikh Mohammed's Godolphin operation and after another busy time of things in 2016, which saw them clock up more than £3million in win and place prize money well over a month ago, they have put themselves in pole position to top the standings again.

The biggest contributor to their tally has been the three-year-old Hawkbill, a hugely progressive son of Kitten's Joy. There was little indication in his juvenile form that he would develop into a top-notch performer but he has really kicked on this year, following a Royal Ascot success with victory in the Coral-Eclipse Stakes at Sandown.

He disappointed twice since but soft ground seems to be the key to him and that would be a very real possibility if he makes the line-up for the QIPCO Champion Stakes.

Another of the star Godolphin names with Ascot on their agenda is the Richard Fahey-trained Ribchester. He was third in the QIPCO 2000 Guineas on his reappearance and has confirmed there was no fluke about that subsequently, winning the Jersey Stakes at Royal Ascot and the Prix Jacques Le Marois at Deauville in August. He is set to line up in the QIPCO-sponsored Queen Elizabeth II Stakes and his trainer has been fulsome in his praise of the son of Iffraaj since that win in France.

Tackling the Godolphin team at the top of the standings is the Coolmore syndicate whose horses race in the purple and white silks of Derrick Smith. They have had only 31 runs in Britain this year but nine of them have been successful, headlined by dual Classic-winning heroine Minding. As well as her wins at Newmarket and Epsom, the daughter of Galileo also landed the Group 1 Qatar Nassau Stakes at Goodwood and has picked up in excess of £900,000 herself.

Highland Reel is a possible for the QIPCO Champion Stakes and the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes winner and Juddmonte International runner-up has confirmed himself a top-class performer in 2016.

The Gurkha, another big contributor to the coffers when winning the Qatar Sussex Stakes in July, he would have been a leading contender for one of the Ascot races but sadly illness struck and he has since been retired to stud.

The Coolmore syndicate could still have a live chance in the QIPCO British Champions Fillies' And Mares' Stakes courtesy of Seventh Heaven. Beaten in two maidens as a two-year-old, she has flourished this year and wins in the Darley Irish Oaks and Darley Yorkshire Oaks have marked her down as the leading middle-distance filly of her generation. She would have a bit to prove were the ground to be very testing but she's improving rapidly and could be connections' best chance of a win on QIPCO British Champions Day.

It is highly unlikely that anyone else will be able to challenge the front pair's dominance, with third-placed Al Shaqab

Racing well over £1million behind Godolphin despite a fine season highlighted by Classic glory in the QIPCO 2000 Guineas for the Hugo Palmer-trained Galileo Gold. That colt is a leading contender in the Queen Elizabeth II Stakes but even a win for him wouldn't see them make enough of a dent in the gap.

Hamdan al Maktoum hasn't enjoyed quite the same success in 2016 as last year, when Muhaarar was a real standard bearer for his famous blue and white silks, but he still has plenty of ammunition and he could conceivably move up the table before the day is out.

As the rise in Britain of the number of horses owned in syndicates continues apace, it's important to give a mention to the Ontoawinner team, who sit comfortably within the 20 most successful owners in 2016, courtesy of their star sprinting filly Quiet Reflection.

Owned in partnership, Quiet Reflection has two QIPCO British Champions Series wins to her name in the Commonwealth Cup at Royal Ascot and 32Red Sprint Cup at Haydock, and has amassed £514,000 in win and place prize money this year. Favourite for the QIPCO British Champions Sprint, she has a chance to take that figure to nearer £900,000, a phenomenal achievement for a filly who was picked up for just £44,000 at the Breeze-Up Sales.

THE BRITISH THOROUGHBRED RETRAINING CENTRE THE OFFICIAL CHARITY OF QIPCO BRITISH CHAMPIONS DAY

The British Thoroughbred Retraining Centre (BTRC), which is celebrating its 25th Anniversary this year, is the official charity of QIPCO British Champions Day 2016, which takes place at Ascot Racecourse on Saturday 15th October.

Britain's oldest charity dedicated to improving and promoting the welfare of retired racehorses through education, retraining and suitable rehoming, will showcase their work throughout the day, highlighting the ways in which racehorses can go on to train in other disciplines.

John Sexton, Chairman of The British Thoroughbred Retraining Centre, said: "It has been a remarkable 25 years for the Centre and what is really pleasing is the way the racing industry has responded by becoming far more aware of the potential of these wonderful animals in other equestrian disciplines.

"We have had several stars of the track through our doors over the years, from the 1984 Grand National winner Hallo Dandy, who was our flagship horse in the early years, to more recent arrivals like Mount Athos and Brae Hill. However, the vast majority are those horses who were not stars on the track, but have still contributed to the fabulous tapestry of British racing and deserve a chance of a fulfilling future when their racing days are done.

"We are very excited and hugely honoured to be the charity for QIPCO British Champions Day and delighted that this partnership gives us an opportunity to showcase the work the charity does, and hopefully raise some valuable funds to help our brilliant team continue their outstanding work."

Rod Street, Chief Executive of British Champions Series, said: "We are delighted The British Thoroughbred Retraining Centre is to be the official charity for QIPCO British Champions Day 2016 in their 25th anniversary year. The work they do is vital to ensuring that horses, who have given us so much pleasure during their careers on the track, go on to lead enjoyable and productive lives after retirement from racing."

BTRC is based at Whinney Hill, Halton near Lancaster and is dedicated to improving and promoting the welfare of retired race horses through education, retraining and suitable rehoming in order to ensure that our Thoroughbreds have a rewarding and valuable life after their racing careers have ended.

The BTRC operate a loan system so that they never sell any horses that are gifted to them. The horses are carefully matched with loan applicants and loaners take them for life. Field officers make periodic visits to make sure horse and loaner are doing well. The beauty of the system is that should the loaner have a change of circumstance which makes it impossible to keep the horse, it returns the Centre removing any risk of it becoming a welfare case. It also means the horse's racing owner can keep track of his old friend.

The aim for their Silver Jubilee is to try and raise £150,000 in order to double the size of the yard from 40 boxes to 80.

QIPCO BRITISH CHAMPIONS SERIES AMBASSADORS

OISIN MURPHY

Oisín is without doubt one of the rising stars of the horseracing world. He burst onto the scene in 2013 with a sensational 9,260/1 four-timer on Ayr Gold Cup day, while in 2014 he became the youngest jockey to win a QIPCO British Champions Series race, when at 19 he partnered Hot Streak to victory in the Temple Stakes at Haydock.

Coming from a family steeped in racing tradition (his uncle is Grand National winning jockey, turned trainer, Jim Culloty), Oisín has been described by those in racing as a “rare young talent” and, unsurprisingly, it wasn’t long before he was snapped up to become the retained rider for the powerful Qatar Racing operation.

He will be partnering their principal horses throughout the racing calendar and will be aiming to ride his maiden QIPCO British Champions Day victory on Saturday October 15th.

MICHAEL OWEN

Michael Owen, the former Liverpool, Real Madrid, Newcastle and Stoke footballer, is one of England’s most prolific goal scorers, sitting fifth on the scoring all-time list. A horse racing aficionado, he was introduced to the sport as a child by his grandfather and his passion has grown from there.

He has owned a number of horses over the years, starting with his first foray into ownership at the age of 18 and has since set up his own training centre at Manor House Stables in Cheshire where trainer Tom Dascombe is based.

He has gone on to own several high-class thoroughbreds, including his beloved home bred, Brown Panther who won the Irish St. Leger as well as QIPCO British Champions Series race, the Artemis Goodwood Cup during his illustrious career.

Michael Owen said: “Ascot provides an amazing sporting amphitheatre, the incredible prize money brings the high-quality horses and the passionate crowd make it a highlight of the season.”

SARA COX

Sara Cox, BBC Radio 2 presenter and TV broadcaster, has had a long running love of horses. Having ridden since the age of six, Sara has had a connection to horses all her life. Sara previously rode out on the gallops for the late trainer John Hills in Lambourn and has also taken part in the Magnolia Cup at Goodwood in 2011 and 2012. She now currently rides a retired racehorse in Epsom on a regular basis.

Sara performed an exclusive DJ set at Newmarket on the opening weekend of the Series, the QIPCO Guineas Festival, and will be closing the Series by hitting the decks for the second time at Ascot on QIPCO British Champions Day.

“I love a day out at the races. I had an absolute ball performing at Champions Day in 2014, and it will be great to be back to Ascot for this year’s season finale.”

BACKGROUND TO QIPCO BRITISH CHAMPIONS SERIES AND QIPCO BRITISH CHAMPIONS DAY

Now in its sixth year, the QIPCO British Champions Series incorporates Great Britain's top 35 Flat races under one banner to highlight the very best quality of competition the sport has to offer. The ambition of the QIPCO British Champions Series is to increase the appeal of horseracing in this country and in QIPCO British Champions Day, create an iconic and fitting finale to the British Flat racing season, something the racing calendar previously lacked.

Some of the world's leading thoroughbred racehorses, the most talented jockeys and trainers, internationally-renowned racecourses and the highest-rated races on earth – including three of the top 10 races run anywhere in the world in 2015 - come together to create a unique offering for existing and new fans of racing.

The QIPCO British Champions Series reaches its climax on QIPCO British Champions Day at Ascot Racecourse on Saturday October 15th. Staged for the first time in 2011, Champions Day is the single richest day in the British Flat calendar boasting £4.2 million in prize money. The prize money is spread across the final races in the five Series categories (Sprint, Mile, Middle Distance, Fillies & Mares and Long Distances divisions) as well as the prestigious £250,000 Balmoral Handicap.

The race programme consists of no fewer than four Group 1 races – the £1.3 million QIPCO Champion Stakes run over a mile and a quarter, the £1.1 million Queen Elizabeth II Stakes sponsored by QIPCO and run over the straight mile course, the £600,000 Fillies' & Mares' Stakes, contested over the Derby and Oaks distance of a mile and a half and the £600,000 QIPCO Sprint Stakes. These races comprise some of the most valuable races of their kind in Europe.

The Group 2 £350,000 QIPCO Long Distance Cup concludes the Pattern race line-up. Despite its official classification, the Long Distance Cup is effectively a Group 1 race in respect of its conditions, such as no weight penalties for previous Group 1 winners, and attracts a high-class field every year.
